

Teliwave is now an official Polycom Certified Reseller

24 February 2009 - Polycom, Inc. has named Teliwave Pte Ltd a Certified Reseller. Having applied for and met the requirements for certification at the Certified level, Teliwave is certified on Voice over IP within SINGAPORE until February 23, 2010.

About Teliwave

Teliwave Pte Ltd is a Singapore company with strong R&D expertise and patents in IP network based unified communication system. Teliwave has developed mobile communication solutions for seamless call back application and integration with enterprise IP PBX system. The company has also developed API (Application Program Interface) for websites/WAP to integrate IP call features such as members-to-members mobile call or to provide friendly sales/support hotline. The company is looking for partnership with IP PBX vendors, distributors and service providers. Hoiio is the product name of Teliwave. Hoiio product range is Hoiio Personal, Hoiio Enterprise Mobility and Hoiio API. Hoiio, a smarter way to say Hello.

About Polycom

Polycom provides the most life-like experience for communication and remote meetings from anywhere to anywhere, instantly. Today, we are the sole provider of integrated, end-to-end unified collaboration solutions that help organizations meet both productivity and cost containment challenges.

By leveraging our leadership in all aspects of a face-to-face meeting that include hearing each other (audio), seeing each other (immersive telepresence and video) and showing each other things (content), Polycom makes meeting over distance just as productive as being there. We enable rapid and collaborative decision-making, we shorten chains of communication over distance, and we continuously enable innovative products and services. Polycom solutions have become critical to companies and organizations trying to win in today's increasingly competitive world.

As the market leader in unified collaboration solutions, Polycom leverages the growing organizational demand for collaboration. We have over 600 patents either issued or pending approval and over 15 million lines of active code across our product portfolio. Last year we delivered our vision for collaboration with best-of-breed Voice over IP and Video over IP products. Recently we raised the bar yet again, by becoming the only provider of the ultimate high definition solution, Polycom UltimateHD™ technology.